By the end of this unit we will understand that:

- Saints are important figures of authority for some Christians
- We can find out more about people's worldviews by looking at and asking questions
- There are a range of biblical texts that Christians read to help them understand how to live a good life
- St Francis of Assisi is an example of a Christian saint who inspires Christians to live a good life
- It is important to think about our own worldviews and to ask questions about what we think and why we think it
